

The Freelance GP you are seeing today is

Dr Preetika Gupta

BSc MBBS MRCGP

I qualified from University College, London in 1999 and completed my junior hospital training in a number of hospitals in the South East. I finished my GP training in Hackney, East London, in 2004 and then worked as a Salaried GP in Hampstead, North West London, until 2009. Currently I provide locum cover to my last employing practice.

I am interested in Women's Health and Musculoskeletal Medicine. I am planning to train in medical acupuncture and study for a diploma in dermatology in the future.

I am married to a German man and we have one child, with another on the way! When I get time, I enjoy eating out, traveling, salsa dancing and sailing.
