

The Freelance GP you are seeing today is

Dr Sascha M Colgan

BSc(Hon) BM(Hon) MRCGP

I completed a three year honours degree in Physiology and Pharmacology at the University of Southampton School of Biomedical Sciences, after which I completed a medical degree at the University of Southampton and graduated with honours in 2003. I spent a year working at Salisbury District Hospital and then a further 3 years as a senior house officer in Paediatrics and Child Health at St Richards Hospital Chichester, St. Mary's Hospital Portsmouth, Princess Anne Hospital Southampton and Southampton General Hospital. I then completed 2 years training in adult specialties at St. Mary's Hospital, Newport IoW before completing my General Practice registrar post at Sandown Medical Centre, Sandown IoW. At the end of my general practice I was fortunate to be appointed a three month post as a NHS Fellow with the United Nations on a medical development programme in Tanzania, Africa. I am currently working part time at The Guildhall Walk Surgery in Portsmouth and spend the remainder of my working week as a Freelance GP.

I am particularly interested in children's health and the care of children both at home in the UK and overseas in developing countries. It is my intention to complete further training in paediatrics so that I can work overseas for aid agencies in the future.
